

AOPA FOUNDATION PHILANTHROPY REPORT

CELEBRATING THE VICTORIES

Much of what we do at the AOPA Foundation happens incrementally—thousands of small wins that, taken together, generate big results. Every time a pilot completes an online course from the Air Safety Institute, it's a small win for safety. Every time a student earns a pilot certificate, it's a small victory for building the GA community. And every time pilots band together to protect their home field, it's a small win for airports everywhere.

These individual victories are important, but they are rarely celebrated. Now, as we look back on the past year, we can see how these wins add up and take a moment to recognize what we have achieved together.

In 2012, the AOPA Foundation supported AOPA's efforts to grow the pilot population by launching the new Center to Advance the Pilot Community. We helped protect airports; educated decision makers, pilots, and the public about the value of GA; and, of course, provided a wide range of safety programs through the Air Safety Institute.

To give you an idea of just how far these efforts reach, in 2012 online safety courses and quizzes from the Air Safety Institute were taken more than 550,000 times, and more than 25,000 pilots attended free safety seminars in person. Real Pilot Stories and Ask ATC videos were viewed more than 300,000 times. And over 45,000 new instrument and private pilots received a free "Decision Making" course on CD.

Pilots are taking courses, attending seminars, and watching videos, but does it help? Well, in the past six decades, the accident rate per flight hour for general aviation has dropped by 90 percent. This is not just a number. It represents real pilots and real lives. And that's a victory worth celebrating.

Victories like these are possible solely because of the generosity and commitment of philanthropists like you. Dues alone cannot help us tackle the harder challenges facing general aviation now. Only your donations to the AOPA Foundation enable us to do so.

When you support the AOPA Foundation, you make it possible for us to continue creating new safety programs, offering live seminars, working to protect airports, and seeking innovative ways to grow the pilot population. I hope you take pride, as I do, in the victories we've achieved thus far, and I look forward to working with you as we find new ways to strengthen general aviation's future.

Safe skies,

COMMITTED TO THE MISSION

William C. Trimble III

Craig L. Fuller

All of us at AOPA are committed to one thing—preserving our freedom to fly. That was the mission AOPA’s founders established in 1939, and it’s the mission we still pursue today.

The idea is simple enough, but in practice, protecting our freedom is no easy task. From user fees to airport noise issues, from safety education to finding ways to help student pilots be successful, AOPA is working on multiple fronts to create an environment where general aviation can grow and thrive.

We couldn’t accomplish even a fraction of what we do, without the financial support of the AOPA Foundation and the thousands of pilots who donate to the foundation each year.

With its focus on safety, protecting airports, growing the pilot population, and spreading the word about the good things being done through general aviation, the AOPA Foundation provides support for many of the initiatives that preserve the freedom to fly for us and for our grandchildren.

Your commitment to general aviation and your willingness to get involved are essential. If you are among the thousands of pilots who believe that the future of general aviation depends on each of us, we hope you’ll join us in donating to the AOPA Foundation. If you are already a contributor, thank you for doing your part to make our skies safer, keep our airports open, and help general aviation grow stronger. We look forward to continuing to work with you in the coming year as we face the challenges and celebrate the victories that will create a brighter future for the entire GA community.

Sincerely,

AIR SAFETY INSTITUTE

The phrase “safety first” has become so common that, in some contexts, it has almost lost its meaning. But that’s not true in the general aviation community. All pilots want to fly safely—after all, the lives we save could be our own.

With the help of sponsorships and your donations, the Air Safety Institute was able to touch aviators more than one million times in 2012 through live seminars, online courses, webinars, newsletters, videos, and more. In the rapidly changing flying environment, your support enables us to produce innovative new programs that reflect the complexities of emerging technologies, changing airspace, air traffic modernization, and new regulations. And we are proud to say that pilots are taking full advantage of these offerings, with an average of more than 30,000 Air Safety Institute courses completed every month in 2012.

Last year, your contributions enabled the Air Safety Institute to offer new resources, including the Public Benefit Flying: Balancing Safety and Compassion interactive course, which highlights the charitable side of GA, and most recently, the Accident Case Study: In Too Deep online video that provides analysis of an accident stemming from VFR flight into instrument meteorological conditions (IMC). Going forward, your donations will make it possible to produce new safety seminars, quizzes, and interactive programs.

CENTER TO ADVANCE THE PILOT COMMUNITY

Ensuring the long-term health of general aviation means ensuring that there will be pilots to fly for generations to come. By helping newcomers achieve their aviation dreams while making it possible for today's pilots to fly more, the Center to Advance the Pilot Community was launched in 2012 and is taking the lead on critical issues related to growing the pilot population.

Your contributions to the AOPA Foundation in 2012 enabled us to support the Center to Advance the Pilot Community in its efforts to improve the flight training experience, help more students earn a certificate, build a supportive GA community, and make GA accessible to more people.

In 2012, the Center created the Flight Training Field Guides, a set of booklets for students, flight schools, and instructors based on extensive research into what makes an effective training experience. The Center also hosted the first-ever Flight Training Excellence Awards, designed to encourage best practices and recognize schools and instructors that "get it right."

And the Center is hard at work finding ways to help today's pilots get the most from their flying. Working with a panel of successful flying club leaders, the Center is working to expand the reach of clubs and make these special environments available to more people. The Center is also seeking ways to help lapsed pilots return to the skies.

Recovering from a decades-long decline in the pilot population won't be easy, and it won't happen overnight. Your support of the AOPA Foundation makes it possible for the Center to make a long-term commitment to finding solutions for some of the most daunting challenges facing general aviation today.

PRESERVING AIRPORTS

The deep federal and state budget cuts of the past few years may be just the beginning, and general aviation airports are suffering. The nation's small airports are closing at an alarming rate, and many communities are no longer willing or able to supply the matching funds needed to receive federal improvement grants.

At the same time, states, counties, and towns are looking for new sources of revenue, and redeveloping airport property or creating new fees and taxes can seem like a good way to find that extra money.

But the AOPA Foundation is hard at work protecting airports by educating decision makers and local citizens about the true value general aviation airports can deliver. By demonstrating the economic and social benefits of general aviation airports, the Foundation is helping communities appreciate and preserve these irreplaceable assets.

Among the projects funded through your contributions in 2012 were an energetic effort to define the economic benefits of general aviation airports, a revamped Airport Watch program, and new tools for the nation's 2,500 AOPA Airport Support Network volunteers. Only with your support can we continue to protect GA's most fundamental assets—our community airports.

ENHANCING THE IMAGE OF GENERAL AVIATION

As pilots, aircraft owners, and aviation enthusiasts, we understand the many ways general aviation serves us, our communities, and our country. But for those who have little or no exposure to personal and business aviation, it's easy to forget all that GA does to serve America.

In 2012, the AOPA Foundation continued working to change the way the public views GA. With educational outreach and a range of media communications that includes video programming, newsletters, books, safety articles, and more, the AOPA Foundation is supporting efforts to counter misinformation and inaccurate stereotypes about GA and the people who use it.

When you give to the AOPA Foundation, you are also giving back to GA. By striving to create an environment where general aviation is better understood and appreciated, we are working to ensure that it will still be around for future generations to enjoy.

PHILANTHROPIC OPPORTUNITIES

President's Ambassadors

President's Ambassadors are an exceptionally committed group of pilots, aircraft owners, and aviation enthusiasts who want to extend their impact beyond the initial five-year commitment to the President's Council by donating an additional $50,000 over 5 years. In addition to the benefits of President's Council membership, they receive:

President's Council

By committing to give or raise $50,000 over five years, the AOPA President's Council represents a high level of commitment to aviation philanthropy. Chaired by John N. Nordstrom, this exclusive group is comprised of pilots, aircraft owners, and aviation enthusiasts who want to make an impact that is both broad and deep. All President's Council members receive:

- Invitations to special events at locations nationwide throughout the year, including private gatherings held in conjunction with major aviation events, including AOPA's Aviation Summit, Sun 'N Fun, EAA AirVenture, and more.

Legacy Society

Members of the Legacy Society are pilots, aircraft owners, and aviation enthusiasts who act to protect general aviation for future generations by including the AOPA Foundation in their wills, retirement plans, or life insurance policies. They may also choose to establish a charitable gift annuity or trust to benefit the AOPA Foundation. Legacy Society benefits include:

- An attractive, personalized certificate of membership.
- A special AOPA Legacy Society lapel pin.
- Invitations to special VIP events.

Hat in the Ring Society

Named after Eddie Rickenbacker's 94th AeroSquadron, the Hat in the Ring Society members help shape and build a stronger future for general aviation so that those who fly today can do so safely, and those who dream of learning to fly will always have an opportunity to make that dream come alive. Hat in the Ring Society members receive special benefits and event invitations to honor their generosity, leadership, and service. Membership begins at $1,000 per year, while Bronze Level members support the AOPA Foundation at $2,500 per year, and Silver Level membership begins at $5,000 per year. Gold Hat in the Ring members donate $10,000 per year.

OTHER OPPORTUNITIES

Friends of GA

Friends of GA help protect our freedom to fly by making secure, automatic contributions to the AOPA Foundation. Charged to a credit card each month, these contributions are tax deductible and can be made in any amount. Participants can change or cancel their contributions at any time. Participants receive a first look at new safety education products before they are released and recognition in the annual report to donors.

Endowments

Creating an endowment to provide an ongoing source of funding for the AOPA Foundation's work is an exceptional way to honor a loved one, demonstrate your passion for aviation, and ensure that efforts to improve safety, protect airports, grow the pilot population, and improve GA's image continue long into the future.

Creating a Donor Named Fund begins with cumulative endowment gifts totaling $10,000 or more. The Silver Endowment Fund level starts at $50,000. The Platinum Endowment Fund is attained in recognition of a gift of $100,000 or greater.

Donor Events

AOPA Foundation contributors are special individuals who have turned their desire to protect general aviation into action. While Foundation donors come from every imaginable profession and walk of life, they all share a passion for aviation. Throughout the year, we create opportunities for AOPA Foundation contributors to meet, interact, and share ideas with one another and with Foundation leadership. We hope you'll join us at as many of these gatherings as possible. It's a great way to stay connected with the work of the AOPA Foundation and your fellow pilots, aircraft owners, and aviation enthusiasts. We have hosted donor gatherings at the AOPA Aviation Summit, as well as at Sun 'N Fun, EAA AirVenture, and other places where pilots gather. We hope you'll join us to learn more about how your contribution is protecting the future of general aviation.
